Description of the event	The Community Police Faculty Programme was organized by the Department of History at Government Degree College for Men, Srikakulam, on September 28, 2019. The event aimed to educate students about community-oriented policing (COP), a strategy that focuses on developing relationships between the police and community members to collaboratively address local issues. II Town Sub Inspector G. Ramana and ASI K. Surya Rao were the esteemed guests for the event. They provided an insightful overview of community policing, explaining that it is a philosophy of full-service policing that is highly personal. In community policing, officers patrol the same area over an extended period, allowing them to build meaningful partnerships with citizens. This collaboration helps in identifying and solving problems that contribute to antisocial behavior and low-level crime. The guests emphasized that community policing goes beyond traditional law enforcement by engaging with local agencies and community members to address the root causes of crime. The Principal, Dr. M. Babu Rao, actively participated in the event, underscoring the importance of community policing in fostering

	trust and cooperation between the police and the public. He highlighted the role of students in supporting such initiatives and encouraged them to be proactive in contributing to their community's well-being. The event concluded with an interactive session where students had the opportunity to ask questions and discuss the practical implications of community policing in their own neighborhoods.
Out come of the Event	The Community Police Faculty Programme provided students with a clear understanding of the principles and practices of community-oriented policing. It successfully motivated students to engage with law enforcement in a constructive manner and underscored the importance of community cooperation in maintaining public safety.
