Objective of the Event	The objective of this elocution competition was to raise awareness among students about the global HIV/AIDS crisis, its impact on communities, and the importance of community-led initiatives in combating the epidemic.

Description of the event

The Red Ribbon Club of Government Degree College for Men, Srikakulam, organized an Elocution on World AIDS Day on December 1, 2018. The event, held in Room No. 24, saw the participation of 13 students, each delivering a 5-minute speech on various aspects of HIV/AIDS. The speeches focused on the challenges, prevention, and the role of communities in addressing the epidemic.

After the elocution competition, Dr. S. Rama Krishna, the Coordinator of the Red Ribbon Club, addressed the students. He emphasized that the world can end AIDS with the active participation and leadership of communities. He highlighted the critical role of organizations representing those living with or at risk of HIV in advancing the global response. These communities play a pivotal role in connecting individuals with public health services, building trust, innovating, monitoring the implementation of policies, and holding service providers accountable.

Outcome of the Event

The event successfully heightened awareness among the students about the HIV/AIDS epidemic and the significance of community involvement in the fight against the disease. The participants gained a deeper understanding of the challenges faced by those affected by HIV and the essential role communities play in driving progress towards ending AIDS.
